PURIM

Joy is an essential part of Judaism. The Torah "Yidu Et Hashem B'Simcha"—serve G-d with joy. The Talmud instructs that with the arrival of Purim, joy must increase in our joy. But why does G-d want us to be happy?

There are many perspectives on life. We can see an endless monotony of days following one after the next. We can focus on the darkness and confusion or we can see opportunities to help others, connect with G-d, and do good. When we choose to see opportunities, joy naturally follows. This joy isn't an emotion but a fundamental way to serve G-d, fulfill our purpose. By embracing this joyful outlook, we transform our lives and the world, fulfilling G-d's mandate to each of us.

LOVE YOUR FELLOW

Reaching out to your fellow Jew with patience, love, concern, and unity is a fundamental precept in the Torah. It's the foundation of Judaism, the bedrock of our civilization. Be kind to others not because they will be kind to you, but because you recognize the divine spark within. Reach out to help another not because of what they do but because of who they are, a human being created in the image of G-d. Every Jew is part of a single soul, radiating into many bodies, each on their unique mission. Together, we form one unit made up of many parts. One body with many limbs. At our source, we are all one. What act of kindness can you do for another today? Smile at someone. Say hello and thank you. Call someone to see how they are. Always be on the lookout to do a favor for another. Bring Jewish people together. Tear down the false barriers of age, affiliation and ethnicity. Follow Hillel's golden rule. Don't do to others what you don't want others to do for you.
